

TRANSPORTATION MASTER PLAN

what is it?

The City of Scottsdale Transportation Master Plan provides a comprehensive policy direction defining where new streets, bicycle, pedestrian, and transit facilities may be needed over the next 20 years and where existing facilities may need to be improved.

where does it apply?

Citywide

who needs to use it?

City Council, Transportation Commission, City transportation and long-range planning staff, Developers, Businesses, and Residents.

why was it developed?

The Transportation Master Plan builds on the policy groundwork laid by the Mobility Element in the city's 2001 General Plan; It provides the detailed transportation information needed to implement the broad recommendations of the General Plan.

key points:

- 1 The street classification map in this plan replaces the street plan map from the 2003 Streets Master Plan.
- 2 Enhances day-to-day decision-making by refining the broad facility categories used in the General Plan into specific classifications.
- 3 Users of the plan get a preview of what the Scottsdale transportation network might look like at build-out.
- 4 Contains the policy foundation and the technical direction to provide a comprehensive multi-modal transportation system.
- 5 Contains a capital listing of implementation projects, adopted by the City Council in 2009, to create the system. This project listing includes streets, bike facilities, transit, trails, and pedestrian facilities, as well as streetscapes, and "right-sizing" of some existing streets.
- 6 Updated Streets Master Plan, Transit Master Plan, Bicycle and Pedestrian Plan, and incorporated the Trails Master Plan.
- 7 Developed a City-specific transportation demand model.
- 8 Complete streets and universal design policies are now included in a new Policy Element.
