Dear Mr. Huerta,

Citizens of Scottsdale continue to voice their distress with the overflight noise as a result of changes in air traffic procedures implemented last September. Adjustments, including reductions in aircraft speeds, restrictions on aircraft altitudes, and changes to throttle up patterns should be implemented to offer relief to areas of Scottsdale experiencing substantial overflight noise.

You've committed to work with communities to manage noise issues, and we believe some of these small adjustments will help maintain Scottsdale's quality of life. Please direct your regional team to take action on some mitigating solutions. It would mean so much to those impacted for nearly a year by the RNAV changes.

Thank you for your time.

Regards,
