Scottsdale Stadium Gets a Giant Update

Nestled in the heart of Old Town Scottsdale, Scottsdale Stadium is home to the Cactus League Spring Training, Arizona Fall League, and a series of year-round meetings and events. This newly renovated 16-acre premier event venue – with a diverse mix of indoor and outdoor function space including the 42,000 square foot clubhouse and event center – sits in the same location as it did when originally built in 1956. These renovations are part of an agreement that guarantees Scottsdale Stadium will host San Francisco Giants Spring Training games through at least 2044. The Stadium was first rebuilt in 1992 and has undergone renovations in 2005 and most recently in 2019. Over the years, the city of Scottsdale has cultivated key partnerships with sports teams, nonprofit organizations, tourism boards and local businesses to help this space thrive.

The Spring Training home for the San Francisco Giants, Scottsdale Stadium is unique as the only Cactus League venue located in a downtown setting. Within walking distance of Old Town Scottsdale shops, hotels, restaurants and more, this renovated space is more than a stadium; it's a gathering place for fans, families, locals and visitors to celebrate, relax and cheer.
