Introduction

The primary purpose of The Scottsdale Tourism Study Lodging Report is to provide market information for the tourism, retail, and hospitality operations within the study area. The study looks specifically at trends in local transient occupancy tax (bed tax) collection, room inventory, average room rates, occupancy rates and other factors relating to lodging trends. The report provides information to elected officials, city management, the general public, and private-sector entities regarding the tourism and hospitality markets.

Much of the information contained in the Lodging Statistics study is based on tax collection figures. Bed tax collection figures are used because they are important and consistently tracked and readily available but it is important to remember these three points:

- The tax receipt figures shown for each month reflect actual sales tax and bed tax collections during the previous month. There is a lag of one month between sales activity and receipts.
- The data in this report (unless otherwise noted) is based primarily on properties located within the City of Scottsdale.
- With the exception of room stock data, no information is available for properties that lie just outside the corporate limits of the City of Scottsdale and the Town of Paradise Valley. It may be reasonable to assume the data for these properties would be very similar to similar properties in the market area, but no projections are made as part of this report.

Executive Summary

- Scottsdale's bed tax revenues totaled $34,968,502 in 2024, down 3 percent from 2023.

Trends In Tax Collection

Transient Occupancy Tax

The City of Scottsdale has a five percent transient occupancy tax (bed tax). In the past ten years, the bed tax has generated over $241 million in revenue for the City. The City of Scottsdale has a voter approved allocation of bed tax funds toward the City's destination marketing, tourism related capital projects, general fund, tourism events, and research.

Table 2 (p. 11) presents monthly and yearly breakdowns of the bed tax receipts for Scottsdale from calendar year 2015 through 2024. During 2024, the city collected $34,968,502 in bed tax, a 3 percent decrease from 2023 collections.

Sales Tax

In addition to bed tax, the City of Scottsdale tracks collection of the transaction privilege (sales) and use tax (1.75 percent) on all sales transactions in hotels. Maintaining a separate listing of all sales taxes received from hotels and motels provides a mechanism to track visitor purchasing trends.

Sales tax revenues generated by hotel/motel properties in 2024 totaled $18,310,103 toward the general fund, a .5 percent decrease from 2023. Around 43.6 percent of the revenues in this category were generated during the peak season (January through April). Since 2015, the hotel/motel sales tax has generated over $130 million in revenues for the City of Scottsdale.

Table 3 (p. 13) enumerates sales tax collected from Scottsdale hotels and motels since 2015.
