

Conservation Starts With You

Water is VITAL to sustain our way of life – and in the Sonoran Desert, due to drought and increased climate change, conservation is essential to protecting our water supply. In order to protect this precious resource, Scottsdale Water wants to empower customers and residents to take action TODAY in order to secure our water for the FUTURE.

By taking advantage of Scottsdale Water’s Conservation Programs, you can become a Water Warrior in no time:

- Sign up for WaterSmart. Customers can see their water use in easy-to-read graphics, download their water use data, and sign-up for water use notifications.
- Qualify for incentive rebates. Customers may receive a rebate for installing WaterSense labeled products or yard conversions:
 - Toilet, smart irrigation controllers, removing summer grass or pool removal.
- Receive a free Outdoor Water Efficiency Check, Large Landscape Consultation or Water Audit. Email waterconservation@scottsdaleaz.gov for more information.

Homeowners can sign up for an Outdoor Water Efficiency Check where a Water Conservation Specialist will go to their home and help set their irrigation controller (timer) appropriately for their plant material.

Businesses and homeowner associations with large landscapes can request a landscape consultation. The consultation focuses on reviewing and analyzing outdoor water use and provides recommendations on reducing water use.

Businesses such as restaurants, hotels, and medical facilities can request a free Indoor Water Audit. The audit focuses on reviewing and analyzing indoor water use and provides recommendations on reducing water use.

- Attend or view online water efficiency workshops.
- Receive free landscape publications or view them online.
- Schools and educators can also take action by contacting the Conservation Team to sign up for:
 - Free interactive classroom presentations
 - Obtain free water education booklets for students
